DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of invention II and species E/BB (Figures 5 and 6) in the reply filed on 6-15-05 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).
2. Claims 51-53 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 6-5-05. Note Applicant did not list claims 51 and 52 as non-elected, but claims 51 and 52 are drawn to figure 7.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 55 is objected to because of the following informalities: "the opening" in line 4 lacks proper antecedent basis. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 3738

5. Claims 34-41,43-47,49,50,54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Stack et al. US PUB 2005/0004681.

Stack et al. discloses in figure 5 a method of weight loss treatment comprising performing a partial intestinal bypass having an adjustable opening (expandable stent opening) and valves.

6. Claims 34-40,46-50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bessler US PUB 2004/0039452.

Bessler discloses in figures 1-4 a method of weight loss treatment comprising performing a partial intestinal bypass having an adjustable opening and valves.

7. Claims 34-37,41,43,46,49,50,55,57,58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gannoe et al. US PUB 2004/0006351.

Gannoe et al. discloses in figures 4B-5 a method of weight loss treatment comprising performing a partial intestinal region bypass having an adjustable opening and valves. Paragraph 0017 describes adjusting the opening after implantation.

8. Claims 34-37,46,47,49,50,54-58 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Solomon et al. US PUB 2004/0220516.

Solomon et al. discloses in figure 11 and paragraphs 0055-0062 a method of weight loss treatment comprising performing intestinal bypass using an adjustable pathway (inflation portions, 2 and 20) having valves. Solomon further discloses in paragraph 0062 combining the treatment with diet modification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claim 42 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stack et al. US PUB 2005/0004681 as applied to claim 34 and 41 above, and further in view of Solomon et al. US PN 2004/0220516.

Stack et al. meets the steps of claim 42 but lacks the express written disclosure of bypassing substantially all of the small intestine. Solomon et al. teach in figure 11 and paragraphs 61-62 a small intestine bypass in order to promote substantial weight loss.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the method disclosed by Stack et al. to include an intestinal bypass that bypasses substantially all of the small intestine as taught by Solomon et al. in order to promote substantial weight loss.

11. Claims 31,31,47,54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gannoe et al. US PUB 2004/0006351 as applied to claims 34,36,41, and 46 above, and further in view of Solomon et al. US PN 2004/0220516.

Gannoe et al. meets the steps of claims 31,31,47,54 but lacks the express written disclosure of including evaluation steps to determine adjustment needs of the bypass, using a one way valve, and using the method in conjunction with diet modification. Solomon et al. teach in figure 11 and paragraphs 55-62 a method of inducing weight loss using an intestinal bypass having a valve to prevent reflux, evaluation of electrolyte balance, and providing additional diet modification in order to to maintain proper health during a weight loss program.

Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the method disclosed by Stack et al. to include evaluation steps to determine adjustment needs of the bypass, using a one way valve, and using the method in conjunction with diet modification as taught by Solomon et al. in order to maintain proper health during a weight loss program.
